To be one of the six most beautiful women for the daily edition. selected from so many thousands is in itself an honor, and one which the people of Wisconsin fully appreciate. How Wisconsin will fare in the final apportionment of awards remains to be seen, and interest is naturally aroused to high pitch. Another point of special interest is the outcome of the challenge issued by The Sentinel to the Chicago Tribune, after the latter had made the claim that Della Carson, the most beauty quest developed, but there is still a great and natural interest as to which of these two women excels the other. As both appear in the group of six selected as the best among the twenty-seven first prize winners of the various states, the question can not be determined until the detailed decision of the judges is made known. This will be officially announced next Sun-

Saturday's Evening Wisconsin, in speaking of the legislature says: The events of the closing days prove almost to a certainty that the proceedings during the whole session have been manipulated and delayed and jockeyed by Speaker Ekern in order to force through his own pet measures aimed at the Northwestern Mutual Life Insurance company even against the recommendation of a majority of his own committee. There is no little resentment on the part of the legislators, who doubtless echo the sentiment of the people of the state as to the cause for this protracted session and the unwise manner in which the most important measures of the session were hurriedly considered during the rush and disorder of the last few days.

Mrs. L. A. Bradley, who was taken to the asylum at Oshkosh, last week, goes to that institution for the second time, having spent several months there nine years ago. Mrs. Bradley is 77 years of age, a native of Vermont, and she has claimed that her husband was a near relative of Wm. H. Bradley, the wealthy Tomahawk lumberman who died a few years ago.

Geo. J. Seyler, a young man who reided in Stevens Point as a boy, previous to about twenty-three years ago, and who was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Seyler, died at Superior a couple of weeks ago, in the 35th year of his age. George is kindly remembered by many of our readers. His sister, Mrs. Thompson, wife of the editor of the Merrill Advocate, pays his memory a grand sisterly tribute through the columns of that paper.

"Doc." Bentley and daughter, Miss Kate, of Wausau, spent a couple of days in the city, the last of the week, the latter being a guest of Mrs. Martha Grant Baker, on Wisconsin street, and while here a number of other Old White School friends had the pleasure of meeting her the first time in a number of years. Both promise to come again next year, and the father, who is in his 77th year, is hale and hearty, and says he is as "sassy" as ever.

George Blood, a former young Stevens Pointer and a son of Frank Blood, Sr., was married at Everett, Wash., June 22d, to Miss Harriet Hopkins, who recently moved to the west from Michigan. The young couple will make their home at Seattle, where George is employed as a plumber and steam fitter. Some few weeks ago he wrote to relatives here that he was undecided whether to go to Alaska or get married. The later announcement shows that George concluded to choose the "lesser evil."

Chauncey Lloyd Jones, son of the late D. Lloyd Jones, and now practicing law in Milwaukee, was recently indicted by a grand jury at Denver. Col., for an alleged attempt to defraud the government out of valuable coal lands. Indictments were also returned against two other Milwaukee men, clients of Mr. Jones. The latter maintains that he has done nothing unlawful, his connection with the land entries being purely that of an attorney engaged to see that the titles were perfeeted through the usual channels.

A Worthy Institution.

Prof. James Melville, solicitor for the Wisconsin Home and Farm School at Dousman, Waukesha county, was a visitor to this city last Thursday and Friday morning. He called on a number of our people and received substantial encouragement in the good work, the purpose of the institution being to help needy and unfortunate boys and give them a home until such time as they are able to provide for themselves. A farm of 220 acres was purchased two years ago at a cost of $14,700, of which $3,000 has been paid and the balance is expected to be met in yearly installments. Of the twentytwo boys who have been harbored and helped during the past year, some went back to their homes when it was found conditions there had improved. Others have arrived to take their places and at present the home is crowded to its capacity, while many applicants have had to be refused on account of lack of Reunion Closes With Banquet.

A banquet at the Curran House last Wednesday evening brought to a close the two days' reunion of the High school class of '04. Tourists Were Pleased.

An automobile party consisting of Tom. Armstrong, Jr., Ed. Worden and Harry Beaudette, accompanied by a chaffeur, spent Friday night in the city. They came from Ladysmith, up in Rusk county, leaving there Thursday noon, and spent that night at Stanley, leaving the latter place Friday morning and reached Stevens Point at about 5 o'clock. They were on their way to Neenah, Oshkosh and other cities below, being out on a few days' outing, and were not obliged to stop for a moment on account of accident from the time they started. The party was making the trip in a Cadillac car, and they were highly pleased with the country they had passed through, with its excellent roads, fine farms and buildings, and especially the horses and stock of all kinds. The charming appearance of Stevens Point at this season of the year, with its shaded, well paved streets and attractive lawns and homes was especially pleasing to the tourists, all of whom were here for the first time.

Comes Here For His Bride.

Frank Choate, whose boyhood days were spent in Stevens Point, but who is now employed as engineer at the electric power plant in Fond du Lac. was married last Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock to Miss Emma Densch. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Densch, 647 Strongs avenue, by Rev. Carl Schmidt, pastor of the German Lutheran church. Miss Emma Krenz was bridesmaid and Bert Choate of Fond du Lac acted as best man. The parlors had been prettily decorated with white peonies and ferns. Mrs. Walter Frost and Miss Clara Krenz served supper to the wedding party, which included relatives and a few intimate friends of the bridal pair. Mr. and Mrs. L. Mrs. Elizabeth Harrison, Pres. of The movement is simply this: A determined and systematic effort to provide adequate moral and religious training for the children and youth of our nation. This is a work we all real ize has been overlooked in the past generation.

An institute of this character patterned after the Elk Mound work, is to be conducted at Endeavor, Wis., from August 13th to 23rd inclusive. The jurpose is to give an opportunity for all the Bible teachers, Sunday School workers and young people as well as the parents and pastors in Central Wisconsin, an opportunity to receive scientific instruction and training in child training. A religious day school will also be conducted.

The work for adults will be under the management of Prof. W. J. Mutch, mentioned above, and who is one of the very ablest of men in this work in the nation today. This institute will afford a rare opportunity to the parents, young people and teachers of this section of the state, and we should plan to avail ourselves of this splendid privilege. Many have already made their olans to attend. No one can afford not to be present. We hope the people of this part of the country and community will be largely represented, thus heartily supporting the movement.

The Wisconsin legislature adjourned last Saturday until next Monday, to give its members an opportunity to spend the 4th at home, and when they go back it is hard to say when they will get through. The present session has not only already been the longest in the history of the state, but is also far the most costly to the taxpayers of Wisconsin, and when the total apprapriations, many of them unnecessary, are figured up, it will cause many unfavorable comments, to say the least.

Geo. F. Grassie, a representative from Milwaukee in the assembly and editor of "Kinks and Kicks in Politics" in the Evening Wisconsin says: The legislators seem to want to take a rest and get a fresh start. Start Young

To Train a Child into Good Habits.

HERE IS NO HABIT That will add so much to the good character, the general happiness and thorough contentment of a life, as the good habit of saving. The best way to start this habit is by opening an account with us for the child. A child will become as interested in watching this account grow as it would be with a toy. This interest will harden into habit and the habit into character. Open the account today-one dollar is sufficient to start with. We pay interest on time deposits and Savings accounts.

UNCLE SAM IN $15.000.000.

Many of These Queer Little Bills Are Held by Collectors of Curios, Who Have No Intention of Giving Them Up For Their Face Value.

It has been long since our pocket books were puffed up as they were when fractional currency was in its prime. No doubt many who now smooth out and feld up the "long green" at regular pay days have but faint recollections of the times when the pretty little notes, about as big as an ordinary visiting eard and bearing denominations of 3, 5, 10, 15, 25 and 50 cents, were in circulation.

It was on the 17th of March, 1862, when Salmon P. Chase was secretary of the treasury, that Mr. Hooper of Massachusetts introduced into the national house of representatives "a bill to authorize payment in stamps and to prohibit the circulation of notes of less denomination than $1." Many banks were then issuing small notes, and the small coin was rapidly disappearing from circulation. This bill became a law almost immediately, and then the little currency notes were launched out as good money. During their existence a total amounting to $368,724,099.45 was Issued, and the greatest amount of it was on its travels throughout the land on March 23, 1879, when the various denominations of fractional currency showed up a total of exactly $49,566,-760.27. This sort of money was issued very rapidly for awhile, but it was also being almost constantly redeemed. The issues did not go beyond fifty millions at a clip, but there were all sorts of ways in which it became lost in the hurly burly and hustling of the times. It became limp and ragged by constant use and could hardly be kept in good shape. It was never so tough and hardened as the bills of today, and the almost constant redemption of soiled and ragged notes kept a large force of , clerks in the department always busy. Much of it was lost. It was by this that the government was a gainer. People throughout the country sent all sorts of petitions to the treasury to be reimbursed for such losses.

Some of it was kept in the summer time in kitchen stoves, and when the good housewives kindled their fires in the autumn, forgetting their little notes, as they frequently do now about and deposit in this free the wor'h er large notes, they burned to ashes, and, Uncle Sam was a gainer by their loss. Sometimes from the farms away off in companied by affidavits and words of them were accidentally dropped and hogs made a meal of them. All of this was a calamity to the owners of the currency, but a gain to the govern-

Of all the three hundred and odd mil-Hons of fractional currency there is now outstanding about $15,000,000. The discontinuance of printing fractional notes happened in the middle of 1875, when specie payments were resumed and the coinage of subsidiary silver money was authorized. There is little chance of any further redemption of paper fractional currency being demanded.

Some curious folks might be disposed to wonder why of all the fifteen millions of fractional currency that are now somewhere in the land some of it has not been turned in to the treasury for redemption and the good greenbacks of today secured in exchange. Taking everything into consideration. there is as much chance for the government redeeming these outstanding notes, even if it desired to do so, as there is for the redemption of the old Continental notes that were used to pay off the government debts during the Revolutionary war. The comparatively small amount of fractional currency that exists today is considered a great treasure by those who hold it. It represents a most trying period in the country's financial history. The funny little notes are being held as souvenirs by thousands. They can be found in albums. In libraries and institutions of all kinds throughout the country they are framed and carefully cherished and guarded. If there are persons who possess any of the fractional currency notes and want to dispose of them for subsidiary silver coin or for greenbacks, they would not at this late day present them to the treasury for redemption. Uncle Sam has no sentiment. He would pay face value and nothing more. There are some folks who would be glad if congress would renew the ferrati noi currency law. It is so easy when one wants to pay a small dold to lds neighbor and waste to send it by mail. If it is less than a dollar, he has to inclose silver if he uses the mails. and that requires a heavier expense for postage stanges. Washingt in Post.

Genta Deal Taps. A story of extraordinary designess was unfolded at a recent meeting of a medical society in Philadelphia An elderly woman, exceedingly hard of bearing, lived near the river. One afternoon a warship fired a salute of tenguns. The woman, alone in her lifetle house, waited until the learning ceased. Then she smoothed her dress, brushed her hair back in a quaint manner and said sweetly, "Come in."-Harper's Weekly.

A LOAN REPAID.

The Fourth Earl Stanhope and the Gentlemanly Highwayman,

The fourth Earl Stanhope when on his way homeward late one dark night was held up by the most genilemaily of highwaymen, who preferred his request for money or the nobleman's life in quite the nices; way. It happened that Lord Stanh pe bud not any money with him and was disinclined to yield the alternative.

"Your watch, then," suggested the gentleman at the opposite end of the pistol. That watch, the earl explained. vas dear to him. He valued it at 109 cultous and would not surged at it. "What I will do," he said, "is to bring the watch in money, and you can call and get it tomorrow pight,"

"Done, m' lord," said the highway-

The law knew nothing about this at rangement, and the carrilla. he has promised. He placed the 100 guineas where the highwayman might at his lelsure collect it. And there, so far as he knew, the matter ended,

Years asterward he attended a great banquet in the city and found himself pleasantly entertained by an extremely well known man whose signature was good for a sum in several figures. Next day came to Lord Stanhope a letter inclosing the sum of 100 guineas. Accompanying it was a note begging his acceptance of a loan granted some years previously to the man who now forwarded it.

That loan, said the letter, had enabled the sender to gain a new start in life, to make a fortune and to renew acquaintance at dinner on the previous night with his lordship. The city magnate and the highwayman of earlier days were one and the same.-London Standard.

Diamonds In His Shoes.

Diamond ornaments in shoes hark back to the days of the Revolutionary war and were worn by merchants of Boston in those days. Thomas Russell of Charlestown, who died in 1796, was one of the most active of business men of his day in Boston and the first to engage in the American trade with Russia after the Revolution. His dress was typical of his time and is thus described in an old print: "He usually wore a coat of some light colored cloth, small clothes, diamond buckles at the knees and in the shoes, silk stockings, powdered hair and a cocked hat and in cold weather a scarlet cloak."--Bost or Herald.

Troubles of the stomach, heart or kidneys, are merely symptoms of a deeper ailment. Don't make the common error of treating symptoms only. Symptom treatment is treating the result of your ailment, and not the cause. Weak stomach nerves-the inside nerves-mean stomach weakness, always. And the heart, and kidneys as well, bave their controlling or inside nerves. Weaken these nerves, and you inevitably have weak vital organs. Here is where Dr. Shoop's Restorative has made its fame. No other remedy even claims to treat the "inside nerves." Also for bloating, biliousness, bad breath or complexion, use Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Write me today for sample and free book. Dr. Shoop, Racine, Wis. The Restorative is sold by all dealers.

Most Stevens People Have a Weak Par and Too Often It's the Back.

Everyone has a weak spot. Too often its a bad back. Twinges follow every sudden twist.

Dull aching keeps up, day and night. Tells you the kidneys need help-For bachache is really kidney-ache. A kidney cure is what you need. Doan's Kidney Pills cure weak kidneys.

Cure backache and all urinary ills. Stevens Point people recommend the remedy.

George Mullen, bicycle repairer, living on Glover street, near Ellis street, Stevens Point, Wis., says: "For a long time I was a sufferer from backache, and not only that, but I was so weak that all my strength seemed to have left me. I went about bent over like a man eighty years old. I did not know what caused it. I never thought about it being from the kidneys until I read in the paper how somebody had been cured of a weak back by using Doan's Kidney Pills. and then it dawned on me that it might be kidney trouble in my. case, so I went to Taylor Bros. drug store and asked about this remedy and being assured that many Stevens Point people had been cured of just such troubles by this remedy. I got a box and began using it. After taking two doses, each of three pills. I felt better and stronger. Yet. PEOPLE OF THE DAY

Case of the Marvin Boy. The mysterious disappearance of little Horace Marvin, who suddenly vanished from his home in Delaware, aroused the sympathy and interest of the whole nation. Spurred by the large rewards offered, thousands of persons exclusive of police and private detectives sought the missing child. It is estimated that at the height of the excitement no less than 100,000 persons in various parts of the country were on the trail of the supposed kidnapers. The state of Delaware appropriated

$2,000 to prosecute the hunt, and the governor of the state took personal charge of the forces engaged.

On Monday, March 11, Horace N. Marvin, Jr., four years old, was missed from his home, a farm at Kitts Hammock, near Dover, Del. His father, Dr. Horace N. Marvin, after fruitless search on the farm and vicinity notified the police of Wilmington. From thence a description of the missing lad was sent to every police force in the country. Then the hunt began. Dr. Marvin had recently removed from Sioux City. Ia., where he had practiced as a physician for more than twenty years.

While in comfortable circumstances, Dr. Marvin by no means considered himself wealthy, and when he decided that absolute rest from his profession was necessary he bought a farm, first aware. The boy's mother died a few months ago.

THE HAYWOOD TRIAL.

Counsel for William D. Haywood at Boise, in their efforts to discredit the testimony of Harry Orchard, put a witness on the stand whose testimony strongly indicated that the explosion in the Vindicator mine was an accident and not a crime.

In the Haywood trial at Boise, Idaho. a ruling by the court materially limited the showing of the defense as to the alleged counter conspiracy by the mine owners.

William F. Davis, who, according to Harry Orchard, was a leader in several of the mine crimes in Idaho, was put on the stand by the Haywood defense and denied Orchard's statements. His testimony was weakened somewhat by Senator Borah's severe cross-examination.

The first direct testimony in the defense of William D. Haywood was chiefly directed toward showing that Harry Orchard, blaming Frank Steunenberg for the loss of his interest in the Hercules mine, had threatened to have revenge by killing him, and that the conduct of Orchard and K. C. Sterling, both before the Independence explosion, when they were frequently seen together, and afterwards, when Sterling called off the bloodhound that was following Orchard's trail, justified the inference that the mine owners inspired the crime.

In an address that occupied two sessions of the district court at Boise, Idaho, Clarence Darrow, of Chicago, outlined to the jury the defense of William D. Haywood to the charge that he murdered former Gov. Steunbe a denial of every material count in the testimony of Orchard, with a showing that Orchard killed Steunenberg because of a private grudge borne by the loss of a rich share in the great Hercules mine, and explanations of the independent circumstances that tend to connect three co-defendants with Orchard's life and operations.

THE DAY THE EAGLE SCREAMS

ONE GIANT CRACKER

TO CONTAIN 187,500 POUNDS OF GUN POWDER.

Little Crackers of One Fourth Were Put Together in One Tube.

There are—to be exact—13,048,537 boys between the ages of four and 20 years in the United States who are going to celebrate the Glorious Fourth. And this takes no account whatever of the old boys, between the ages of Andrew Bauer, cashier in the 20 and 80, with a few verging on the branch office of Simpson, Crawford & edge of 90 for good measure. These Co., New York, was knocked senseless boys are going to celebrate in the by two thugs and robbed of $2,000 good old-fashioned way with firecrackers and toy pistols and cannons and skyrockets and nigger-chasers. They are going to make a lot of noise and a good many boys are going to get their fingers and thumbs blown off and their faces filled with gunpowder and their ears trimmed. But that doesn't make any difference; they are going to celebrate nevertheless. Now, there is no use dragging out statistics to show how many boys were killed and maimed and sent to the hospital last Fourth of July. You will waste your ink in writing down the figures and your breath in talking about them, but you will not stop the small boy, nor the big boy, nor the middle-aged boy, nor the old boy from celebrating. All your arguments will have no avail.

Suppose all the firecrackers that will be fired off could be concentrated into one colossal firecracker and that all the boys in the United States could be assembled around it and that at a given moment it could be fired off. winding up the whole business of a Fourth-of-July celebration at one fell swoop. There would be one mighty shock to the nerves of nervous old women and shaky old mon. There would be one big sizz and one big bang that would be heard all the way around the world, and then all would be over; everybody would have celebrated: the same amount of money would have been spent and quiet and peace would be resumed. Now, let's see how it can be figured out. First of all, one must ascertain how Chief Justice W. F. Frear, of many firecrackers there are in the United States. One of the largest dealers says there are now 100,000,000 firecrackers in this country waiting to be exploded on the Fourth of July. Another large dealer says this estimate is too high and places the number at 20,000,000. When one considers, however, that there are more than 13,000,000 boys in the country and that the first estimate allows something less than eight firecrackers for each ident Zelaya, of Nicaragua, to form a ticle is conservatism, and, therefore, a compromise position will be taken and used, which places the number of firecrackers at 60,000,000.

Next, let us see how much gunpowder there is in these 60,000,000 firecrackers. The best authorities on this subject say that in the average firecracker there is one-twentieth of an ounce of gunpowder. This calculation is has d on the number of 'lady-fire pewa Falls. Wis., as the result of the crackers," which are the smallest, on up to the big cannon crackers, including the tremendous "Hunt" and Number 18, which contains two ounces of explosives. With this good start it is simply a matter of mathematics to learn that in all the firecrackers of the tan and Bronx boroughs, N. Y. went United States there are 3,000,000 ounces of gunpowder, which, of course, means 187,500 pounds. This has all been easy. There is your firecracker. All you have to do is to get your boys together, apply the match to the fuse, wait a second with bated breath and then— But hold on! How about the damage? For many years there have been learned discussions concerning the force of various grades of explosives. The experts call it potential energy. Some time ago two famous Frenchmen-Roux and Sarrau-made a series of experiments to determine the exact extent of the potential energy of the most powerful explosives and the results of these experiments have become the standards of the best informed experts on this subject. It was learned from these studies that the average potential energy of gunpowder is 480 foot-tons to the pound. You will observe, therefore, that there would be a good deal of "busines concentrated in a gigantic firecracker containing 187,500 pounds of gunpowder. In this immense cracker there would be stored 90,000,000 foot-tons of potential energy. Startling as are these figures, to the layman they mean little. Let us compare them to some object with which we are familiar. Take the Flatiron building in New York, for instance. Its weight is 50,-000 tons. Now, if there are 480 foottons of potential energy in each pound of gunpowder, it would require 104 pounds of gunpowder to blow up a building weighing 50,000 tons. This amount of gunpowder, is scientifically applied, would do the job completely and raze the big structure from basement to roof. Such an explosive effort as this, however, represents but a small part of the force in the suppositional king of giant firecrackers, which would contain 90,000,000 foot-tons of energy-enough to blow up (according to exact mathematical calculation) 1,800 structures similar to the Flatiron building before you could say "Jack Robinson!"

So, perhaps, after all, it may be as well to postpone the building of this great universal firecracker until our experts have learned a little better how to handle high explosives.

Nebraska Parrots Disappeared. Only a few naturalists and early territorial settlers know that parrots were once numerous in Nebraska.

Fifty years ago they were still seen along the Missouri river in southeastern Nebraska, but disappeared very suddenly after the first settlement in that region. The Nebraska parrot was the Carolina paroque (Cornus Carolina). It had a beautiful green and yellow plumage, so striking in appearance as to instantly arrest the attention of the early hunter.

Beside this, the birds gathered in large flocks and were so exceedingly tame and simple that the whole flock was easily killed. Add to this that | arrested Saturday and 1,500 pounds of feathers attractive trophies of the hunt, and the fate of the Nebraska parrot was assured.

WRECK ON THE FRISCO

PASSENGER TRAIN DERAILED AND 15 PERSONS HURT.

FIVE CARS OVERTURNED

Spreading Rails, Due to Recent Heavy Rains, Cause an Accident at Johnson Station, Ark.

Springdale, Ark.-A southbound passenger train on the Frisco road was wrecked Sunday at Johnson Station, five miles south of here, by the spreading of the track, causing the dining car, two sleepers and two coaches to leave the rails and fall on their sides. Fifteen persons were badly bruised. The most seriously injured was Dr.

J. Weems, of Fort Smith, Ark., whose collarbone was broken. The train was not carrying many passengers and only a few were in the dining car, which was the first to leave the rails. A heavy rain had undermined a section of the track. The train was 20 minutes late and running at high speed, and the engine, mail and express cars passed over the undermined tracks in safety. Dr. Colvin, of California, a passenger, rendered immediate aid to the injured, and they were taken back to Fayetteville. Late in the afternoon another train was made up at Fayetteville and the injured were able to proceed on their journey.

They were driving along the lake sho which at the point where the accident happened runs along the edge of a bluff. At the highest point the machine got beyond the control of the driver, swerved and went directly over the embankment. The heavy car did not turn over as it fell, but landed in 20 feet of water. Charles was struck by the steering wheel and received internal injuries which may prove fatal. A gasoline launch was near the scene of the accident, and those on board hastened to rescue the automobilists.

GOES HIGH IN HIS SKY CYCLE.

Ohio Lad Carried Up a Mile by Strong Air Current.

Columbus, O .- Cromwell Dixon. the 14-year-old aeronaut, made an ascent Sunday in his "sky cycle" and was carried up more than a mile by an adverse air current and drifted several miles before he was able to land. The propeller of the airship is run by foot power, and Dixon has been able to handle it readily in a light breeze.

Sunday after the ship had ascended a short distance, it was caught by a strong current of air which whirled it about, and it shot rapidly upward until only the gas bag could be discerned by the naked eye. After being up about half an hour. Dixon landed safely several miles away from the starting point.

The boy was nervy throughout his trying experience, and declared that he did not feel concerned at any time for his safety, although thousands of people below were much alarmed.
